You may also drop in and you may be seen by an Employment Counselor if time allows. If not, you will be given an application and scheduled for an appointment.  The application lists the documents you need to bring to complete the process. During the first appointment, the Counselor will assess your eligibility and determine, with you, what services are appropriate. The next step is taking a TABE assessment (reading/math/language skills).  It may take two or three appointments to get everything finalized.  The parent or guardian of minor youth must sign the application and other forms, so should be prepared to attend the first appointment.
